- Students from Science faculty participate in practicals of the laboratory through the entire academic year. These practicals are duly recorded in the practical journals and regularly checked by the subject teachers. Students who fail to complete the journals are not allowed to take practical examination. At the end of academic year, the practical examination is held in which internal/external examiner evaluates the results of the practical examination conducted by Chemistry, Physics, Botany, Zoology and Mathematics departments.
- The First/second year students of all faculties undertake field projects for Environmental studies and Foundation course. These projects are assessed very objectively by the college teacher and the obtained marks for the field projects are forwarded to university for declaring results. This is also a part of internal assessment.
- At the same time, the third year students from Arts, Commerce and Science faculties make a seminar presentation/projects and submit their project reports for the internal assessment. The third year students of all faculties are objectively assessed on the basis of their performances in the seminars/project work and the quality of their project reports.
